Dear Mr. Lewis,

The Pathfinders Task Force team, with its great support from Mountain Top Ministries, was a godsend for our relief effort. Without all of the trucks, labor, security, and leadership, we never would have accomplished our mission of feeding thousands of people in desperate need of food. Elym Relief and all the people you helped truly were lifted up on “eagles wings” for the unselfish help you offered to us and to the Haitian people. From arranging complex security teams, adapting at the last minute to sudden changes, coordinating multiple NGO objectives, and juggling on going surprises, your team’s leadership truly made our missions a success.

In our short partnership relying upon World Food Programme supplies, we were able to distribute more than 122,000 meal rations in just two days. Our crews worked seamlessly with your crews, and I appreciated your rapid training, organizational structure, discipline, and mission focus. When we completed our first distribution in 15 minutes, I was surprised how effective Pathfinders could be. When we completed our second complex, large distribution in two large IDP sites, I quickly recognized that your pathfinder team has well honed its skills in mass care operations. Watching Haitian National Police and a platoon of Jordanian UN troops react quickly to your plans and orders, I recognized the full leadership capabilities of you and your team. When we left that site after distributing food for almost 10,000 Haitians in just 40 minutes, I knew it was no coincidence your team found us in our time of need.

Eagles Wings was our miracle, and Elym Relief never could have completed our tasks without your help. Thank you again, and in all my other deployment experiences throughout the world, I never have encountered a trained volunteer team like Pathfinders – ever. The State of Florida is blessed to have such skills as your volunteer team.

Sincerely,

Dr. Jacotte Previlus
